Art Unit: 1623

Claim 4 is are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

There is no antecedent basis in the preamble of claim 4 for the terminology "X-hydrate" in the last line of claim 4.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-1, 3-11 and 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Miura et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,959,088).

Miura et al disclose preparation of the crystalline fumaric acid of erythromycin derivatives encompassed by the present claims (column 7, lines 21-68 and column 8, lines 1-23).

The present claims are directed to hemifumarate crystals of erythromycin derivatives and their preparation. Since crystallization process disclosed by the cited art is the same or closely related to the process for the production of the claimed crystals, the claimed compounds would have been inherently produced by the references' processes. Therefore, the claimed compounds and processes are anticipated or are deemed prima facie obvious over the cited prior art.

Applicant's arguments filed December 13, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant contends that Miura et al disclose crystal form D which is not a hydrate. This argument has not been found persuasive. On page 3 of the specification, lines 7-10, it is stated that crystal form D hydrate is formed by storing crystal form D anhydrate under humidifying condition. Miura et al'088 disclose in column 20, Example 20, subjecting crystal form D anhydrate under humidifying condition. The claimed crystal form D hydrate would have been inherently formed in the process disclosed by Miura et al.

Also, on page 9, lines 1-5 of the specification it is stated that crystal form F is obtained by suspending crystal form D anhydrate in a mixed solvent of ethyl acetate and water at less than 20 C. In column 15, lines 18-25, Muira et al disclose recrystallization of form D anhydrate from ethyl acetate and water at less than 20 C. Therefore, the claimed form F would have been inherently formed by the process disclosed by Muira et al.

Further, note that Muira et al disclose drying of crystals under vacuum (column 19, lines 20-22).

Also, if there are any differences in crystalline forms of the claimed compounds and crystalline forms of the reference's compounds, such difference are deemed to be very minor in nature and the claimed compounds would be expected to possess the same characteristics and properties as the reference's compounds.

Applicant has not presented any evidence that the claimed crystal forms are not inherently present in the crystal forms disclosed by Muira et al.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
